About Nigeria Development and Finance Forum

Nigeria Development and Finance Forum (NDFF) was first convened in 2008 to provide independent briefings on the Nigerian policy and investment climate to international investors, the policy community, and Nigerians in the diaspora to support the economic reform efforts of the Nigerian government. Our goal is to accelerate the domestic reform process and increase the competitiveness of the country for investments.

Five previous NDFF conferences have been successfully hosted in London, Washington DC, and New York City. The conference is holding in Nigeria in 2024, and in the coming years, to crowd in insights and investment interests for the Nigerian economic transition and foster a sustainable economic progress in the country.

NDFF conferences have consistently delivered as a world-class platform for government and its agencies to engage and launch market-facing initiatives, increase foreign investment interest in Nigeria, encourage diaspora return and investment in the local economy, and promote the private sector.

We welcome your support for the NDFF initiative.

Nigeria Development and Finance Forum (NDFF) 2024 Conference is a high-level gathering of public, private, social, and international sectors leaders.

We welcome the broad participation of the Nigerian Government, the diplomatic community in Nigeria, United Nations officials, financiers, private sector leaders, and foremost social sector actors.

Over the two days of the conference, we will explore the theme: “The Road to Economic and Social Welfare Transformation.” Our overarching objective is to provide strategic clarity on how Nigeria will transition from the current economic and social welfare stress to stability, growth, and progress.

On Day 1, we will have plenary and panel sessions to address the following topics:

- Fiscal policy for jobs and shared prosperity
- Monetary stability and revitalising industries and markets
- Health and social welfare transformation
- Nigerian economic sustainability

From these macroeconomic issues, we will turn attention to two specific industries that provide immense opportunities for investment, job creation, income generation, and inclusive economic growth on Day 2. The special sessions are on:

- The Nigerian green economy
- The Nigerian blue economy

The agenda of NDIFF 2024 Conference and the selection of our Speakers from the public, private, social, and international sectors will foster inclusive discussions, and participants will gain invaluable insights into the prospects of the transitional Nigerian economy, understand government’s priorities, learn the opportunities for investment, and network with the most impactful players in the Nigerian market. Indeed, the well-crafted agenda of this event will be very enriching for all participants.

The communique of the conference will be shared with participants and the audience they represent. We will also publish it on the conference website: www.ndffconference.com.

THEMATIC FOCUS OF NDDFF 2024 CONFERENCE

The theme of the conference is “The Road to Economic and Social Welfare Transformation.”

This broad theme will be discussed and explored in six sessions over the two days of the conference. The sessions and their summaries and objectives are succinctly presented below.

1. SESSION ON FISCAL POLICY FOR JOBS AND SHARED PROSPERITY

The conference sub-theme for this session is “The Roadmap to Nigeria’s Fiscal and Economic Transformation: Short, Medium, and Long-Term Outcomes.”

The panel session will discuss the topic: “From Palliatives to High-Quality Jobs for Shared Prosperity.”

Summary & Objectives

From a macroeconomic perspective, a lack of employment opportunities impacts a country’s standard of living, as measured by the gross domestic product (GDP) per capita, and its potential for economic growth, as measured by aggregate demand and output. Thus, it is vital for fiscal policy to create the conditions that will ensure that Nigeria’s teeming youth population is gainfully employed. The objective of this session is to present concrete information and analysis on labour and productivity in Nigeria, proffer solutions to niggling challenges, and provide actionable insights on how to generate needed jobs for inclusive and sustainable economic development. Since economies, including the advanced ones, experience cycles of economic shocks, this session will also discuss mechanisms and implementation frameworks for making social safety net programmes more effective.

2. SESSION ON MONETARY STABILITY AND REVITALISING MARKETS

The sub-theme of the conference for this session is “Macroeconomic and Financial Stability: Communicating the Outlook.”

The panel session will discuss the topic: “Revitalising Industries and Markets.”

Summary & Objectives

The Nigerian economy has experienced an acute price instability in recent years, with inflation rising above 30% and the value of the naira facing downward pressures against major reserve currencies. While the Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN), under its current leadership, has prioritised price stability and introduced key financial market reforms, achieving a soft landing for the economy would require revitalisation of industries and markets. Raising domestic production for consumption and export is vital for long-term economic growth and achieving human development. This panel session will generate ideas for more effectively achieving economic and price stability, improving the business environment, stabilising markets, expanding credit to the real sector, supporting small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), attracting foreign investments (Foreign Portfolio Investment (FPI) and Foreign Direct Investment (FDI)), and achieving productivity growth over the long term.

3. SESSION ON HEALTH AND SOCIAL WELFARE TRANSFORMATION

The conference sub-theme for this session is “Transforming Nigeria’s Population Health: Crowding in Policy, Market, and Social Actions.”

The panel session will discuss the topic: “Raising the Productivity of the Healthcare Sector: Challenges, Solutions, and Opportunities.”

Summary & Objectives

The goal of economic policy, either fiscal or monetary, is to enhance the welfare of citizens. Similarly, the goal of health policy is to enhance the wellness of citizens and make them productive. Invariably, health policy targets the social welfare of citizens. This insight is uniquely reflected in both the renaming of the federal health ministry, and the appointment of a public health specialist with global leadership experience in investment in healthcare as the Coordinating Minister of Health and Social Welfare, in the person of Prof. Muhammad Ali Pate. This panel session will discuss the idea of all-of-government and all-of-society approaches to healthcare delivery in Nigeria. It will dissect the challenges of the health sector in Nigeria, proffer practical solutions, and highlight investment opportunities to support innovation and a momentous improvement in “population health” in Nigeria.

4. SESSION ON NIGERIAN ECONOMY AND SUSTAINABILITY

The topic for stakeholder engagement for this session is “Future-Proofing Nigeria’s Economy and Social Welfare: A Sustainability Approach.”

Summary & Objectives

The Nigerian economy has experienced a downward trend in macroeconomic data. However, over the last decades, the economy had strengthened and created opportunities of billions of dollars in both local and foreign investment. It also witnessed the resurgence of the middle-class. But with each external shock and domestic policy issue, we have seen the accentuation of vicious cycle of boom and bust. The panel session will proffer solutions for achieving not only long-term economic stability in Nigeria, but also social and environmental well-being. The focus will be on successfully transitioning into a technologically advanced, resilient, and inclusive economy, while regularly assessing policy efforts to optimise outcomes.

5. SPECIAL SESSION ON THE BLUE ECONOMY

The topic for stakeholder engagement for this session is “Nigeria’s Blue Economy: Prospects, Opportunities, and Challenges.”

Summary and Objectives

According to the Commonwealth, the worldwide blue or ocean economy is valued at around $1.5 trillion per year, making it the seventh largest economy in the world, and is set to double by 2030 to $3 trillion. The blue economy encompasses all economic activities related to oceans, seas, and coasts. Among the recent impetuses for higher growth prospects of the Nigerian blue economy is the creation of the Federal Ministry of Marine and Blue Economy and the extension of the Nigerian seaward continental boundaries from 200 to 220 nautical miles by the United Nations’ Commission on the Limits of the Continental Shelf. But the Nigerian blue economy requires more policy support, market frameworks, and investments to deliver on the prospects of the sector. This industry-focused session will generate ideas to support the goal of the government to create jobs, catalyse economic growth, and drive foreign exchange earning.

6. SPECIAL SESSION ON THE GREEN ECONOMY

The topic for stakeholder engagement for this special session is “Mobilising Investments for Nigeria’s Green Growth.”

Summary and Objectives

The United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) defines the green economy as low-carbon, resource-efficient, and socially-inclusive economy. According to the UN agency, in a green economy, growth in employment and incomes are driven by public and private investments into economic activities, infrastructure, and assets that enable reduction in carbon emissions and pollution, enhance energy and resource efficiency, and prevent the loss of biodiversity and ecosystem services. Opportunities for these investments abound in several sectors of the Nigerian economy, including tech, agriculture, manufacturing, power, and transportation. This industry-focused session will bring together local and international stakeholders in the Nigerian green economy to address the challenges of the sector and provide insights on harnessing its growth opportunities.
